THE BATTLE OF LEXINGTON

The citizens of the historic and eminently patriotic town of Lexington. have resolved to celebrate the Centenary of the famous battle which opened the War of the Revolution, and are making their arrangements accordingly for a grand affair on the 19th of April next. The citizens of the whole country are invited to participate in the ceremonies. prominent features of these will be an oration, a public dinner, salutes with eannon, and the unveiling of the statnes of John Hancock and Samuel Adams. The President has been invited, the Governor of the Commonwealth, representatives of the National State Government in their different departments, literary and other organizations, and distinguished citizens from all parts of the Republic. It will be an occasion of profound interest to all Americans, who will be glad to visit this cradle spot of liberty; where the first blood was shed and the first martyrs to freedom on the continent lie buried.

About the Scandal. NEW YORK, March 8.

On Friday night as Deacon Oving ton was getting ready to go to Europe a clerk from Morris & Pearsal's office served him with a subpæna to produce two letters that were written Friday night, July 10th, one sent to Monroe place, where the Plymouth Church Investigation Committee were in session, and the other to Mrs. Tilton at her house in Levingston street. Early the next day Ovington | He was an employe of Cutting & Co. assured ex-Judge Fullerton that if any letters had been written his wife wrote them and that she would respond to the subpænas and he was allowed to go away to Europe and his wife is to be subpænaed. The fact that letters were sent was discovered through the search of books of the American District Telegraph Advertisements were inserted in the Company. Tilton told his counsel it was his greatest puzzle to know why Elizabeth was so transformed in 24 hours because he had left her at her Home happy when he went to the Committee. He had found her sleeping when he returned and was awakened next morning by her farewell words. He told his counsel of his dilemma and after every sort of reasoning they concluded to search the books of the American District that it was copied from a tombstone Telegraph Company. About the Scandal.

New York, March 8. On Friday night as Deacon Oving ton was getting ready to go to Europe a clerk from Morris & Pearsal's office served him with a subpoena to produce two letters that were written Friday night, July 10th, one sent to Monroe place, where the Plymonth Church Investigation Committee were in session, and the other to Mrs. Tilton at her house in Levingston street. Early the next day Ovington assured ex-Judge Fullerton that if any letters had been written his wife wrote them and that she would respond to the subpænae and he was allowed to go away to Europe and his wife is to be subpernaed. The fact that letters were sent was discovered through the search of books of the American District Telegraph Company. Tilton told his counsel it was his greatest puzzle to know why Elizabeth was so transformed in 24 hours because he had left her at her Home happy when he went to the Committee. He had found her sleeping when he returned and was awakened next morning by her farewell words. He told his counsel of his dilemma and after every sort of reasoning they concluded to search the books of the American District that it was copied from a tombstone Telegraph Company. They found in a graveyard in Wellsburg, Va that on Friday night a note had been Leonard Brown, the well-known prints sent to Starrs, at 31 Monroe place, er, of this city, says the Capt. Oliver, an answer obtained and one sent to Brown referred to was a brother of Mrs. Tilton. James Redpatch publishes a card saying, "Tilton did not send me the original manuscript of honorable record of his ancestor, and his true story to have it surrepitously being a native of the scene of the first published in New England. Remains Found-Sailed. San Francisco, March 8.

Friday last a skelton was found in one of the canons near Soucelito, Among the bones was found a large American watch, with the inscription, "F. C. to G. B." which led to the identification of the skeleton. It was taken to this city and recognized by a gentieman as having belonged to one George Bramstore, who mysteriously disappeared six years ago. He was an employe of Cutting & Co. who presented the watch to him as a token of esteem, he having been in their employ eleven years. At the time of his disappearance he was preparing to return to England, his native country, and had quite a snug sum of money in the bank which, was taken in charge of by friends. Advertisements were inserted in the papers of his disappearance but to no avail. The Coroner of Marin county will hold an inquest on Tuesday, the 9th, over the remains.

The body of the latter lies the Samoan Groupe. The Pecrless will probably be a present to the King of the Samoan Islands and great interest is attached to her departure in view of the probability of the close connection with the project for the annexation of the Islands.
